Cy and Cyndi's Cyber Security Message

The Internet is an amazing tool for learning, games, and more. It makes our lives richer, letting us share more and faster than ever before. But it's important to protect yourself online.

- The Internet is a very open place, which is part of what makes it great, but there are people out there who don't have your best interests in mind – stop and think before sharing private information, especially on social networking sites.

- When someone you don't know tries to message or email you, or if you or a friend are being bullied, tell a parent or teacher.

- Keep your passwords secret – if you share them with someone, who knows how many other people they could tell!

- Don't go to any website if you don't know what's on it – it could put you or your computer at risk.

Together, we can keep the Internet a great place to work and play, if we take the time to Stop and Think before we Connect.
